Conditions for participation in examinations Students may not participate in an examination that they have not registered for in time. If students failed to register for an examination for reasons beyond their control, they can file an informal application for late registration stating the title of the examination and the examination module number. The application must be justified and submitted to the board of examiners of the respective degree program or Fachhochschule degree program. Students must provide proof for the justification as to why they failed to register in time. The Examinations Office will notify the students of the decision taken by the respectively responsible board of examiners by e-mail to their KU e-mail address. If students are unable to take a module examination because they failed to register in time, this can result in a self-imposed extension of their course of study of up to two semesters.
Please note: Dates for registration for courses and examinations are published in KU.Campus
