

The Master International Relations teaches three core competencies...

1. competencies for standalone scientific research
2. profound knowledge in international relations
3. competencies for action in international environments

... and is distinguished by five main characteristics:

Master International Relations