

Student organisations

A majority of the students is organized in student organisations, which exist in large numbers at the WFI, enhancing the life at the faculty.

A number of those are primarily attended to the goal of a strong link between theory and practice. They organise workshops and lectures in cooperation with companies or convey international internships. Other students help their fellow students as tutors in the preparation and follow-up of content of the curriculum, develop marketing concepts for the faculty or supervise exchange students.

Other organisations concentrate on specific interests, which may be economic kind, but also social, artistic or athletic oriented.

In any case, the students exercise their soft skills and learn through their commitment to combine theory with practice, to resolve conflicts, to work in a team and to take on responsibility at an early stage.
